

Guest Lecture at PDEA

Sharing Professional Insights on Housing, Landscape Design, and Urban Design at PDEA College of Architecture

As part of the firm's continued engagement with architectural education and professional knowledge exchange, Ar. Paras Netragaonkar, Principal Architect of Shilpi Architects and Planners and Chairman of the IIA Pimpri Chinchwad Centre, was invited as a Guest Speaker at PDEA's College of Architecture, Pune. The session, titled "Housing, Landscape Design & Urban Design," was conducted alongside Ar. Shashank Phadke, Director of Solespace Architects, providing students with valuable exposure to contemporary architectural and urban development practices.

The session focused on the interconnected relationship between housing, landscape architecture, and urban design in shaping sustainable and livable environments. Through presentations on residential and mixed-use developments, students were introduced to the planning principles, design considerations, and urban challenges involved in creating vibrant communities that respond to the evolving needs of modern cities.

A significant emphasis was placed on the role of landscape and urban design in enhancing the quality of public spaces and improving the urban experience. Drawing from a range of professional projects, the speakers demonstrated how thoughtful integration of open spaces, green infrastructure, mobility networks, and public amenities can contribute to creating inclusive, resilient, and people-centric environments.

The interactive session provided students with practical insights into the design process, project execution, and the responsibilities of architects in shaping the built environment. By bridging academic learning with professional experience, the discussion encouraged aspiring architects to approach design holistically and understand the broader impact of architecture, landscape, and urban design on communities and cities.
